"SPRING BASEBALL CLASSIC FOR KIDS"

For the 10th consecutive year, Georgia will battle Georgia Tech at Turner Field, home of the Atlanta Braves, in the event billed as the "Spring Baseball Classic for Kids."

The 2012 game will be on April 24. Georgia holds a 7-2 edge in the series at Turner Field.

All tickets are $10 with proceeds benefitting Children's Healthcare of Atlanta and its Brain and Spinal Cord Tumor Program.

The game has raised more than $200,000 annually for the not-for-profit pediatric healthcare system. Since 2004, there have been more than 20,000 tickets sold annually for each game. In 2010, a portion of the ticket sales went to the "Prayers for Chance Fund" to help offset medical expenses of Bulldog infielder Chance Veazey.

Hungry Bulldogs Ready For Action

Veteran Georgia Squad Aims For Special Season In 2012

The 2012 Georgia Bulldogs will take the field as one of the most experienced squads in David Perno's tenure. Now in his 11th season at the helm, Perno welcomes back eight starting position players and eight pitchers who logged significant innings a year ago.

Georgia got a taste of the postseason in 2011, reaching the NCAA Corvallis (Ore.) Regional Final. The goal this year is to go much deeper in the postseason; the veterans are taking aim at Omaha, Nebraska and the College World Series.

How do you feel about the potential of the 2012 team?

Starting with our defense, I'd say it's very similar to the 2011 team, and that squad set a school record in fielding percentage (.974). We've got just about everybody back. The veterans were sharp; Kyle (Farmer) and Levi (Hyams) turned plenty of double plays and Curt (Powell) at third provides a real strong left side of the infield. I liked how freshman Nelson Ward and senior Colby May played to give us some infield depth. Colby made a smooth transition at first base after playing third base his first three years.

All three of our catchers (Brandon Stephens, Joey Delmonico and Brett DeLoach) competed well, and in the outfield, Peter Verdin and Conor Welton both had a good fall. The addition of freshman outfielder Hunter Cole is a plus because he's got a lot of tools. He showed he could hit and play defense.

Going in to the fall, I felt good about our pitching because we had our top guys back, and I still feel good for the spring. We wanted to see who else would step forward.

What's the early season plan for the 2012 rotation?

The rotation is going to be Michael Palazzone and Alex Wood with Blake Dieterich and freshman David Sosebee rounding out the starters. We'd like to have senior Chase Hawkins in middle relief, and we know he can start too. Michael was real good this fall and Alex showed increased velocity plus worked on a put away breaking ball.

Also, it's nice to have our late-inning guys ready to go again in Bryan Benzor, Earl Daniels and Tyler Maloof.

How do you feel about the offense?

We're in better shape compared to last year, but I feel like we still have a ways to go. There's potential for a lot of production from our lineup, but we'll have to use the whole field. We'll be counting on the veterans. One thing we need is more left-handed hitters.

We've got Levi (Hyams) who is solid, and Conor (Welton) showed improvement. In the Red-Black series, we batted Conor and Jared (Walsh) 1-2, and they did a nice job including against left-handed pitching. Also, Hunter (Cole) is a right-handed hitter that showed he is capable of being a threat in the middle of the order. I think the lineup could be close to the one we had in 2006, not the power, but the potential to hit around .300 and be balanced.

How about all the home games on the 2012 schedule?

We went on the road last year and played one of the nation's toughest schedules. This year, we wanted to play more home games, and it worked out. As far as the home games to start, we'll get to sleep in our own beds a lot more in February and March. We realize the tough part is coming in the second half, but we'll see how we measure up in March when UCLA comes to town, and when we start SEC play, too.

Thinking back to 2009, that team posted a 19-2 record after a lot of early home games and then struggled. Can you do anything different to avoid that?

We always focus on doing things our way. We don't get caught up with what team we are playing. Our second half in 2009 needed to be better after that start. We just have to make sure we're getting better as the season goes along. Still, I credit the 2009 team for their ability to regroup and make a run in the SEC Tournament and advance to the NCAA Tournament.

The 2012 team has plenty of guys who have been through a lot in their careers. They have faced adversity. They understand the grind of a season, and they are better equipped to deal with anything compared to any other club I've been around so I know they will keep things in perspective.

David Perno

Head Coach

11th Season

16th Year at UGA

(Georgia '91)

CWS: 1990, '01, '04, '06, '08

SEC Champions: 2001, '04, '08

Under David Perno's leadership, the University of Georgia has become one of the nation's elite programs with three College World Series appearances (CWS) and six trips to the postseason in the past 10 years.

Perno, 44, begins his 16th year with the Bulldogs and his 11th as head coach. Under Perno, Georgia has shown a standard of excellence on and off the field. Perno has the distinction of going to the CWS with the Bulldogs as a player (1990 national champions), assistant coach (2001) and as a head coach (2004, 2006 and 2008 CWS Finals). In school history, the Bulldogs have made only 11 NCAA postseason appearances and six of those have been during Perno's tenure.

Most recently, Georgia earned a spot in the 2011 NCAA Tournament where the Bulldogs advanced to the Corvallis (Ore.) Regional Final after playing the nation's toughest rated schedule. Georgia qualified for the 2011 SEC Tournament and needed to reach the semifinals to secure an NCAA bid, and they did just that in an emotion-filled run for their injured teammate Johnathan Taylor. For the second straight year, Georgia rallied around a Bulldog starter that endured a devastating injury.

After the 2010 season saw Georgia post a record high Earned Run Average (ERA), Perno decided to add the duties of pitching coach in 2011. The results were rather impressive considering the staff ERA dropped 3.61 runs a game and this after playing a scheduled that featured 37 games against ranked teams. Also, the Bulldogs set a school record for fielding percentage at .974. Georgia finished fourth in the rugged SEC at 16-14 behind three teams ranked in the top five all season in South Carolina, Florida and Vanderbilt, as they shared the league crown.

The 2008 season was a banner year for the Bulldogs under Perno. He became one of only 12 men in NCAA history to take three teams to to the CWS in his first seven years as a head coach. That year, Georgia went 45-25-1, won another SEC title with a school record 20-9-1 league mark and had its second best season in school history.The Bulldogs reached the CWS Finals and finished a consensus No. 2 in the final national rankings. Also in 2008, Georgia became the first school in SEC history to sweep the annual league honors as voted on by the coaches. A Bulldog earned SEC Player, Pitcher, Scholar-Athlete and Coach of the Year accolades.

Player development is another highlight in the Perno era. A total of 37 Bulldogs have had the opportunity to play professional baseball after coming to Georgia as a non-drafted player. Also, 16 Bulldogs have improved their draft status the next time they were selected. In 2009, Georgia led the nation with 11 players drafted including seven that were not selected coming out of high school. Rich Poythress, a second round pick of Seattle, headlined the 2009 contingent as the first baseman earned All-America honors and was a semifinalist for the Golden Spikes Award and the Dick Howser Trophy. In 2010, Georgia had five pitchers drafted. In 2011, seven Bulldogs were selected including first round pick Zach Cone (Texas) plus 11 signees.

A total of 29 former Bulldogs coached by Perno were playing professional baseball in 2011 including four Major Leaguers in Gordon Beckham (Chicago), Mitchell Boggs (St. Louis) Jeff Keppinger (Houston) and Robby Hammock (Arizona).

Under Perno, student-athletes have made the annual SEC Academic Honor Roll 115 times including a record 17 in 2011. A total of 50 Bulldogs have signed professional contracts.

Since 2006, Georgia has had six players drafted in the first three rounds including three first-rounders, shortstop Gordon Beckham and pitcher Joshua Fields in 2008 and Zach Cone in 2011. The All-American Beckham was a second team Academic All-American, a finalist for the Golden Spikes Award, the Dick Howser Trophy and the Brooks Wallace Award. Fields earned the National Stopper of the Year Award as the nation's best closer, was a finalist for the Clemens Award and a semifinalist for the Golden Spikes.

In 2009, Perno guided Georgia to a 14-0 start, breaking the 98-year old record for the best start in school history and the program's first No. 1 ranking in the regular season. The Bulldogs led the SEC with a school record 109 home runs and for the second straight year, Georgia set a school record for total attendance at Foley Field.

In only his third season at the helm, Perno, an Athens native and Georgia alumnus was honored as the 2004 College Coach of the Year by Baseball America. Perno guided the Bulldogs to a third place finish at the 2004 CWS, a share of the SEC title and a final national ranking of fourth. The Bulldogs went 45-23 in 2004, setting school records with a 12-game SEC winning streak, 28 games televised and the highest total attendance and per game average in Foley Field history.

Perno was recognized by his colleagues as the 2004 American Baseball Coaches Assocation/Diamond South Regional Coach of the Year, the 2004 SEC Coach of the Year (along with Arkansas' Dave Van Horn) and the 2004 National Coach of the Year by College Baseball Insider.com. Georgia's recruiting class for 2004 was ranked 10th best nationally by Baseball America.

In 2006, the Bulldogs showcased another sizzling second half performance that featured a 13-game winning streak, going 23-7 over their final 30 games. In the SEC, they went 15-5 in their last 20 games to finish second in the Eastern Division and third overall. Georgia earned one of the 16 host sites for NCAA Regional play and eventually one of the eight Super Regional sites. Georgia eliminated Florida State to win a regional and South Carolina to capture a super regional to punch another ticket to Omaha. The Bulldogs concluded the year 47-23 and ranked sixth nationally. The 47 wins tied for the second most in school history and led the SEC.

Over the years, Perno has spearheaded numerous improvements to Foley Field. These projects have included a new professional playing surface, installation of a drainage system and renovation of the Bulldog locker room, athletic training room and players lounge, new lights, a state-of-the-art scoreboard/videoboard sound system and new chairback seating.

On July 21, 2001, Perno became the 24th baseball coach in school history. He had just completed his fifth year on the Georgia staff including his second under Ron Polk. Perno's recruiting efforts have helped build the program back to a force in the SEC. Perno's initial charge as head coach was to sustain the momentum created by the 2001 Bulldogs that captured the SEC title and advanced to the CWS. After the professional draft and graduation claimed Georgia's entire starting infield, pitching rotation and two catchers, Perno guided a youthful squad to the 2002 NCAA Atlanta Regional final and a record of 32-29. It marked the only time in school history that Georgia had made back-to-back trips to the NCAA Tournament. Georgia's 2002 schedule ranked among the toughest in the country with 32 road games.

Before coming back to Georgia, Perno was an assistant under Robert Sapp at Middle Georgia Junior College. In 1996, the Warriors posted a 58-9 mark and third place finish at the JUCO World Series. Perno worked with the pitchers and recruiting.

Following his playing career, which included one season at Middle Georgia and three at the University of Georgia, Perno served as an assistant coach at Marshall University for three years. While at Marshall, he received his master's degree in Athletic and Health Education. From 1992-1996, Perno coached the Cortland (N.Y.) Apples in the Northeastern Collegiate Summer League. Perno, played for Sapp at Middle Georgia in 1987 as the Warriors went 42-6 en route to a third place finish in the state. Perno transferred to the University of Georgia in 1988 where he played his final three seasons in various roles and was a member of the national championship team in 1990. He graduated from Georgia in 1991 with a degree in Marketing Education.

A 1986 graduate of Clarke Central, Perno lettered in baseball and football and was an All-State selection as a senior. He played running back on the 1985 football state championship team and also played on the 1985 American Legion state championship team.

Perno is married to the former Melaney Chastain of Athens, Ga. They have two children, Saidee Woodlyn (12) and David Hayes (8).

CWS: 2004, '06, '08

Jason Eller enters his 10th season on the staff at the University of Georgia including his sixth as an assistant coach/recruiting coordinator.

A native of Marietta, Ga., he has helped Georgia to three College World Series (CWS) appearances since 2004. Also, he has set a new standard in Bulldog recruiting with 37 members getting selected in the past five Major League Baseball (MLB) drafts.

A record 11 signees were selected in the 2011 MLB draft. Georgia's 2011 recruiting class was ranked as high as No. 2 nationally by Perfect Game USA and finished in the top 20 after five draft picks enrolled at UGA.

In 2007 and 2008, Georgia had a then record eight signees selected. In the 2007 MLB draft, the eight selections were highlighted by first round pick Ben Revere who opted to turn professional and five others going in the first 18 rounds. Ultimately, four of those Bulldogs made it to Athens. In 2008, Georgia had eight more members of its recruiting class selected by Major League clubs. Also, the 2008 class featured six members among Baseball America's Top 100 High School Prospects, which tied for the most by any school during the early signing period. In 2009, four of the six signees that were drafted decided to come to UGA.

Eller's duties on the field have varied from working with the outfielders and hitters to assisting head coach David Perno with the pitching in 2011. His work with the pitching staff helped reduce the team ERA by 3.61 runs a game. Eller has served as a first base coach and third base coach in his Bulldog career. In 2003, he came to Georgia as a volunteer coach and was promoted to a full-time assistant in August of 2006.

Eller helped Georgia hitters set a school record and SEC-best 109 home runs in 2009 as the Bulldogs made their second consecutive appearance in the NCAA Tournament. It was the first time Georgia made back-to-back trips to the NCAA postseason since 2001-02. Georgia's 2008 recruiting class was ranked fifth nationally by Collegiate Baseball, and the group combined to start 226 games for Georgia in 2009.

Eller helped guide the SEC Champion Bulldogs to within a victory of the 2008 national championship. Georgia captured another NCAA Athens Regional and Super Regional, and then the Bulldogs reached the CWS Finals. Georgia earned a consensus final national ranking of number two, marking the second best finish in school history. Georgia's offense in 2008 set school records for Hits, Total Bases, At Bats and tied the mark for Games Played.

His work with the outfielders and hitters helped Georgia to a third place finish at the 2004 CWS, a share of the SEC title, a record of 45-23 and final national ranking of fourth in the country. Also, the Bulldog defense posted a .971 fielding percentage which ranked the second best in school history. The 2003 squad set the school record with a .972 fielding percentage.

The 2006 outfield, which helped carry the Bulldogs back to the CWS, was arguably Georgia's greatest ever. They set a school record for putouts and assists. Along with Side, senior outfielder Bobby Felmy and Kyle Keen earned an opportunity to play professional baseball while junior Jonathan Wyatt led the team in batting and anchored the 2007 outfield. Wyatt capped his final year with an SEC-best perfect fielding percentage in 164 total chances. He was one of three outfielders nationally to earn a Rawlings Gold Glove Award.

Eller came to the Bulldogs from Georgia State where he spent the 2002 season as an assistant on Mike Hurst's staff. Eller served as hitting instructor, worked with the outfielders and was the team's strength training coordinator. Also, Eller was a part of the East Cobb baseball program. He was the manager of the 2003 Perfect Game Junior Division champion East Cobb Braves. He served as manager of the 18 and under CABA World Series championship East Cobb Tigers squad in 2001 and assistant coach of the 2000 team that won the CABA World Series.

He has worked as an instructor at various summer baseball camps including at Georgia, Florida State, Griffey International and the Bucky Dent Baseball School.

He is a 1998 graduate of Georgia State with a degree in sociology. He was a four-year letterman for the Panther baseball team from 1992-95 and served as a student assistant in 1996.

Allen Osborne

Assistant Coach
2nd Season
(Marshall '95)
CWS: 2001

Allen Osborne enters his second season as an assistant coach after spending time earlier in his career in Athens. He returned to the University of Georgia baseball program in June of 2010, serving as the hitting instructor, third base coach, and assisting in recruiting and camps.

In 2011, he helped the Bulldogs back to the NCAA postseason as they posted a 33-32 record while playing the nation's toughest rated schedule. Georgia had 37 games against ranked opponents and ended the year by reaching the finals of the NCAA Corvallis (Ore.) Regional. Georgia had seven players drafted in 2011 including outfielder Zach Cone, a first round pick (37th overall selection), by the Texas Rangers. Also, the Bulldogs set a school record for Fielding Percentage at .974. Osborne helped assemble a recruiting class that was ranked as high No. 2 nationally by Perfect Game USA before the draft and finished in the top 20 when five draft picks enrolled at UGA.

Osborne's first stint with the Bulldogs came as a graduate assistant under Robert Sapp in 1997-98, then as a volunteer assistant under Ron Polk in 2000-01 and David Perno in 2002.

In 2001, Georgia won the Southeastern Conference title (its first league championship since 1954) and advanced to the College World Series for the first time since winning the 1990 national title. In 2002, Osborne helped Georgia qualify for back-to-back NCAA Regionals for the first time in school history. While at Georgia, he helped develop three future Major Leaguers in Jeff Keppinger, Clint Sammons and Robby Hammock. All three Bulldogs remain active in professional baseball. Keppinger spent the 2011 season with the Houston Astros and San Franicsco Giants; Hammock finished the year with the Arizona Diamondback; Sammons played in Triple-A with the Florida Marlins.

From 2008-10, Osborne rebuilt the Wingate (N.C.) program. The Bulldogs captured the 2010 South Atlantic Conference title, the first for the school since 2000. Wingate advanced to the SAC Tournament each year under Osborne and increased its win total. The 19 conference wins by the Bulldogs in 2010 was the second most in school history. His top players included 2009 All-American and Conference Player of the Year Mark Letchworth and Conference Freshman of the Year Casey Allison. They helped the team lead the league in nine offensive categories. During Osborne's time at Wingate, nine Bulldog recruits and players were selected in the Major League Baseball draft.

Prior to directing the Wingate program, Osborne spent the 2007 season as an assistant coach at the University of Memphis under Daron Schoenrock. That year, Memphis made their first NCAA Regional appearance since 1994 and posted its most regular season wins in 13 years. Osborne served as the hitting and catching instructor, and the third base coach. In addition, he coordinated camps and field maintenance for the Tigers.

Osborne's coaching career includes three years as an assistant and recruiting coordinator at East Carolina. The Pirates made the NCAA Regionals in all three of his seasons in Greenville. In 2004, the Pirates were ranked as high as fourth nationally and posted a final record of 51-13 after falling to South Carolina in an NCAA Super Regional. The 2004 club set six Conference USA records along with a school record 100 home runs, 153 doubles and hit .314. Osborne worked with numerous All-Conference standouts at ECU including All-Americans Ryan Jones and Trevor Lawhorn. A finalist for the Dick Howser Trophy, Jones led the NCAA with an .823 slugging percentage in 2004 and batted .400-19-69.

Osborne was a four-year letterman for the Marshall Thundering Herd. He was the Southern Conference Freshman of the Year in 1992 and earned All-Southern Conference honors as a catcher in his career. He earned a criminal justice degree from Marshall in 1995. While at Georgia, he earned a masters of education in sport management in 1998.

A native of Chesapeake, Ohio, Osborne is married to the former Janey Wheeler. They have a six-year-old daughter, Ellason Grace, and a son, Gehrig Blaine, born July 18, 2011.

2nd Season
(Georgia '10)
CWS: 2004, '06

Jason Jacobs begins his second year as a volunteer coach on the University of Georgia baseball staff. He will work primarily with the catchers and infielders. He has been a valuable contributor to the program in the last decade as a four-year letterman including a part of two College World Series teams (2004 and 2006) and as a student assistant during the 2010 season.

A native of West Palm Beach, Fla., Jacobs was a 20th round pick of the New York Mets in 2006 and spent four years playing professional baseball. He was a two-time New York Penn League All-Star and helped the Brooklyn Cyclones capture the 2007 title. During that season, he smashed a league record 12 home runs and was involved in a 26-inning contest that lasted six hours and 40 minutes. He caught the first 18 innings of that marathon that ranks as the longest game in New York Penn League history. In 2008, he was promoted to St. Lucie, the Class High A affiliate. In 2009, he played for the Camden Riversharks of the independent Atlantic League and earned All-Star honors.

In his Bulldog career, Jacobs batted .305 with 20 home runs and 123 RBI in 198 games including 168 starts. He served as team captain of the 2006 Bulldog squad that posted a final mark of 47-23 and number six national ranking after advancing to the College World Series. As a senior, he batted .331-7-48, made the SEC All-Tournament team, the NCAA Athens Regional All-Tournament team and made 67 starts at catcher. He caught 95 percent of the innings pitched and set a school record for a catcher with 449 putouts. As a sophomore in 2004, Jacobs helped the Bulldogs win a Southeastern Conference title. The team went 45-23 and had a number four national ranking after reaching the CWS. He hit the game-tying solo home run in the top of the ninth in the 7-6 NCAA Regional championship win over Clemson in Athens.

Jacobs earned a bachelor of science degree in mathematics from UGA in the spring of 2010. He is married to the former Katie Foley of Atlanta, Ga.

Endowment Program

The UGA Athletic Scholarship Endowment Program was instituted to allow supporters of the University of Georgia Athletic Association to invest in the educational opportunities of UGA student-athletes. The program is vital to the future of Georgia Athletics by providing the long-term solution of keeping pace with escalating expenses.

A gift to establish a scholarship provides income towards funding a scholarship each year and permanently memorializes the donor or any individual whose honor the scholarship is named. A full scholarship is endowed through a gift of $150,000.

Currently, there are six baseball scholarship endowments. For more information about the Athletic Scholarship Endowment Program or other giving opportunities, please contact the UGAA Development office at (877) 423-2947.

Farmer & Veazey Participate In Student-Athlete Leadership Academy

Kyle Farmer and Chance Veazey were among the 27 UGA student-athletes inducted into the Student-Athlete Leadership Academy this past September.

The Leadership Education and Development (L.E.A.D) program is in its second year at UGA. Student-athletes are chosen based on academic and athletic success, leadership, campus and community service involvement, and recommendations of head coaches and academic counselors.

Along with encouraging leadership development and providing resources to compete for awards and scholarships, the student-athletes have a chance to meet with local, state and industry leaders. An example of one of the program's goals is to have the student-athletes visit a company where superb leadership has had a visible impact on the organization and/or surrounding community.

2012 Baseball Team Learns CPR

The University of Georgia student-athletes are gaining knowledge in emergency preparedness and learning a life-saving measure. This past fall, the baseball team became the first group to undergo CPR instruction.

"The athletic association created a goal of teaching cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and use of an automated external defibrillator (AED) to every student-athlete," said Director of Sports Medicine Ron Courson. "We feel this is a critical skill which everyone should know. By teaching CPR to our student-athletes, we are equipping them with the skills to make a difference in a life-threatening emergency."

The athletic training staff at Georgia are American Heart Association CPR instructors. The student-athletes learned everything about CPR--inform 911 operators, determine cardiac arrest, do CPR and work an AED to name a few. They learned this through lecture from the athletic training staff and participation with mannequins.

Georgia Advances To NCAA Corvallis Regional Final After Playing Nation's Toughest Slate

The 2011 Bulldogs will not be remembered for claiming any titles, but they did capture the hearts of their fans for being a resilient bunch.

Georgia displayed true grit. They were a team that did not have any student-athletes earn All-SEC honors; a team that ranked 10th in the SEC in Batting (.274); 10th in Pitching (4.90 ERA) and tied for first in Fielding Percentage (school record .974). Still, this team garnered the 10th NCAA bid in school history and the sixth under head coach David Perno. They reached the final of the NCAA Corvallis (Ore.) Regional.

Boasting the nation's top-rated schedule and an RPI at No. 16, Georgia (33-32, 16-14 SEC) played an SEC-high 37 games versus ranked teams and led the SEC with 17 wins over top 25 clubs. The Bulldogs were road warriors, tallying an SEC-high 37 games away from home.

For the second straight season, Georgia lost a starter to a devastating injury. In 2011, it was junior Johnathan Taylor (J.T.), the leadoff hitter and centerfielder. He collided with teammate Zach Cone during the 11th game of the year. Georgia dedicated the rest of the season to J.T., fighting its way to the SEC Tournament in the nation's toughest league, not to mention most difficult division.

Georgia finished fourth in the SEC behind Eastern Divison rivals South Carolina, Florida and Vanderbilt, all who advanced to the College World Series and ended the year ranked 1-2-3.

At the SEC Tournament, Georgia needed to win three games to have a record above .500 to be eligible for an NCAA at-large bid, and they did that with a remarkable run to the semifinals that featured wins over No. 1 South Carolina and No. 3 Florida.

Incidentally when the Bulldogs upset the Gamecocks to eliminate them from the tournament, it would be their last loss. USC would end the year on a 10-game winning streak and capture its second consecutive national title.

Top Bulldog Performers

Junior RHP Michael Palazzone (10-5, 3.14 ERA) was one of the top pitchers in the SEC with seven wins over ranked foes and a league-high four complete games. Palazzone's wins included beating #3 Vanderbilt, #4 Florida, #5 Florida State, #9 LSU, #14 Arkansas and #24 Miss. State. He made the SEC All-Tournament team, going 1-1 with a 3.60 ERA in two appearances. On two days rest following a loss to #3 Vanderbilt, he went 4.1 innings and allowed one unearned run in getting a win in relief over #3 Florida to reach the SEC Tournament semifinals and qualify the Bulldogs for an NCAA at-large bid.

Sophomore LHP Alex Wood (6-7, 4.44 ERA) tossed his first career complete game in beating Auburn 3-2 to keep Georgia's season alive at the SEC Tournament. In March at #10 UCLA, he beat the Bruins and the eventual number one overall pick in the MLB draft in Gerrit Cole.

Sophomore SS Kyle Farmer (.308-8-58) ranked fifth in the SEC in RBI and led the the team in home runs. He made the NCAA Regional All-Tournament team after batting .375 with five RBI.

Junior 2B Levi Hyams (.332-5-38) led the team in batting and made the NCAA Regional All-Tournament team after hitting .529 in four games. Hyams and Farmer excelled defensively all season, helping the Bulldogs turn 62 double plays, the second most in the league behind national champion South Carolina. Hyams set a school record for a second baseman with a .983 fielding percentage.

In his first season as a closer, redshirt sophomore Tyler Maloof ranked third nationally with 18 saves. Maloof tied the school record for saves (Josh Fields, 18 in 2008) and was 18-for-19 in that role.

Playing for J.T.

Georgia honored its injured teammate junior outfielder Johnathan Taylor (J.T.) during the 2011 season. He sustained a neck injury March 6 during a game against #5 Florida State in Athens.

On March 7, Taylor had neck surgery at St. Mary's Hospital in Athens to stabilize his spine. On March 11, he was transferred to the Shepherd Center in Atlanta. He graduated from in-patient care on May 24 then went in to the "Day Program" and returned home for the summer.

Taylor, a 5-8, 181-pound native of Acworth, Ga., is the son of Tandra and John Taylor. Johnathan has appeared in 117 games in his Bulldog career including 91 starts. He owns a .312 career batting average. A Consumer Economics major, he was named to the SEC Freshman Academic Honor Roll in 2009 and the UGA Athletic Director's Honor Roll in 2010.

Bulldogs In The 2011 MLB Draft

Georgia had a record 18 players (7 current, 11 signees) selected in the MLB draft. Junior outfielder Zach Cone led the way as a First Round selection of the Texas Rangers, the 37th overall pick. Named to the SEC All-Defensive team, Cone batted .275-4-35 with 13 stolen bases and a perfect fielding percentage in 161 total chances. He became the ninth first round pick in school history. In a classy move, the Rangers also selected injured Bulldog Johnathan Taylor in the 33rd round.

Along with Cone, 1B Chase Davidson (Houston), RHP Cecil Tanner (Oakland) and RHP Ben Cornwell (Seattle) signed professional contracts. Meanwhile, RHP Michael Palazzone (24th round/Milwaukee), RHP Tyler Maloof (34th round/Cleveland), OF Peter Verdin (Washington/39th round) and Taylor opted to return to school.

THIS IS SEC BASEBALL

The Southeastern Conference, with its storied 78-year history of athletic achievements and academic excellence, has built perhaps the greatest tradition of intercollegiate competition in baseball of any league in the country since its inception in 1933. The SEC posted another tremendous season in 2011.

Seven teams earned selection to NCAA postseason play with South Carolina, Florida and Vanderbilt advancing to the College World Series (CWS). A SEC squad has appeared in the CWS 26 of the last 27 years.

South Carolina won their second consecutive national championship. They beat Florida in the CWS Finals, marking the seventh time since 2000 that an SEC team played for the national championship in Omaha and fourth in a row.

The Gamecocks, Gators and Commodores shared the SEC Eastern Division and the overall regular-season title with a 22-8 conference record while Arkansas claimed the West at 15-15. Florida won the SEC tournament title over Vanderbilt.

The SEC boasts 11 former National Players of the Year, 11 Baseball America Coach of the Year and 10 Collegiate Baseball Coach of the Year honors. A total of 149 student-athletes have been named first-team All-American, six of which came in 2011.

Tremendous Fan Support For SEC Baseball

The SEC drew a record of more than two million fans to its on-campus ballparks in 2011, the sixth year in a row to draw over 1.6 million.

Seven SEC teams drew in excess of 100,000 fans to their parks in 2011. The SEC averaged a record 4,990 fans per game in 2011, the fifth straight year to exceed the 4,000 mark.

The SEC Baseball Tournament drew nearly 100,000 fans in 2011 and 7,000 per game in 2011. The SEC Championship Game was broadcast nationally on EPSN2 for the second straight year.

The MLB Draft

In 2011, 48 former SEC players were listed on MLB opening day 25-man rosters.

Six SEC players were taken in the first round of the 2011 MLB Amateur Draft including Georgia's Zach Cone by the Texas Rangers.

The SEC has now had a first round pick in each year since 1991 and 89 total in the first round during that time.

Did You Know?

Georgia won the first baseball national title for the SEC in 1990 while LSU has collected six crowns since then (1991, '93, '96, 1997, 2000, '09) while South Carolina (2010, '11) has claimed two. There have been five runner-up finishes including Georgia in 2008 and most recently Florida in 2011.

In 2008, Georgia became the first school to sweep the following SEC honors in the same season: Player of the Year (Gordon Beckham), Pitcher of the Year (Joshua Fields), Scholar Athlete of the Year (Gordon Beckham) and Coach of the Year (David Perno).

2012 SEC TOURNAMENT

May 22-27, Regions Park, Hoover, Ala. (10,800); Dimensions: 340 Foul Lines, 385 Power Alleys, 405 to CF

For the 15th straight year, Regions Park will serve as the site of the SEC Tournament. In 2012, the format switches to a 10-team tournament. The tournament field features the divisional champions who earn a first round bye plus eight at-large bids based on conference winning percentage. The teams are seeded 1-10 with the two divisional champions guaranteed the top two seeds. Regions Park serves as home for Double-A Birmingham (Chicago White Sox).

2011 MLB Draft Flashback

Zach Cone was selected by the Texas Rangers with the 37th overall pick of the 2011 Major League Baseball Draft.

Cone and his teammates were watching and listening to the draft as they boarded a charter plane in Des Moines, Iowa. The Bulldogs were coming back from an NCAA Regional in Corvallis, Ore.

Cone, a 6-2, 202-pound native of Stone Mountain, Ga., was a third round pick coming out of Parkview High School in 2009.

Cone was a three-year starter for the Bulldogs and hit .317 with 18 home runs and 106 RBI in his career. Cone was named to the 2011 SEC All-Defensive team, fielding a school record 1.000 in 161 total chances including five assists.

He owns the school record for highest career fielding percentage by an outfielder at .997. He made just one error in 318 total chances and tallied 16 assists.

*Note: When the draft began in 1965, there were three phases. The winter session was phased out in 1986 and the secondary in 1987; SP=Secondary Phase; FA=Free Agent; Davis left UGA after one season and played at Manatee JC in 1981; DNS=did not sign and returned to UGA.

A total of 33 former Bulldogs have reached the Major League level. It began with Claude Derrick for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1909. The latest Bulldog to make it to the majors was Gordon Beckham in 2009. He was one of four Bulldogs to play in the majors in 2011, joining Mitchell Boggs (St. Louis), Jeff Keppinger (Houston and San Francisco) and Robby Hammock (Arizona).

Boggs helped the Cardinals win the 2011 World Series, making seven appearances in the playoffs after going 2-3 with 4 saves and a 3.56 ERA in the regular season. Beckham was named the 2009 American League Rookie of the Year by the Major League Baseball Players Association and by The Sporting News plus to the Topps Rookie All-Star team.

Derrick played on Connie Mack's World Championship teams in 1910 and 1911 and, while recovering from a broken ankle in Baltimore in 1912, he was the first roommate of a rookie pitcher named George Herman "Babe" Ruth. Nolen Richardson, a Georgia standout in football and basketball in the 1920s, played six years in the majors and returned to coach the Bulldogs in 1951. Johnny Rucker was featured in LIFE as a promising rookie in 1940.

While many Bulldogs enjoyed success throughout their career, one who stands out is Spurgeon "Spud" Chandler. Chandler was a part of seven World Series teams for the New York Yankees, including winners of six championships. Actually, he first played in Yankee Stadium as a member of the Bulldog football team. Georgia defeated New York University 7-6 on Nov. 7, 1931. Following his graduation in 1932, the Carnesville, Ga., native spent five years in the minors before returning to Yankee Stadium as a major leaguer. In his 11-year career, his finest season came in 1943. He led the league in Wins, Earned Run Average and Complete Games, going 20-4 with a 1.64 ERA and 20 complete games. He went 2-0 with a 0.50 ERA in the 1943 World Series, winning game one and pitching a shutout in the clinching game five over St. Louis.

MLB TRIVIA: Larry Littleton and former St. Louis Cardinal outfielder Michael Potter hold the MLB record for most career at bats by a non-pitcher without a hit. Littleton made the Indians 1981 team out of spring training. He made his debut in game two that season, pinch-hitting in the ninth inning. He grounded out to eventual Hall of Famer Robin Yount. His lone RBI came on a bases-loaded line out off Minnesota's Jerry Koosman that Mickey Hatcher ran down. Most of his at-bats came as a pinch-hitter, and he started just four games over a 45-day span. Still, the Bulldog graduate made it to the top.

USA BASEBALL TEAM

USA Baseball, based in Durham, N.C., is the national governing body of amateur baseball in the United States and a member of the United States Olympic Committee (USOC). The organization selects, trains, and supports the USA Baseball Team and the USA Baseball Junior Team which participates in international competitions, including the Olympic Games and World Championships.

While the first official exhibition baseball game in the Olympics was a 1912 contest in Stockholm, Sweden, reports exist that an unrecognized baseball game was played at the 1904 Games in St. Louis, Mo. A number of single game exhibitions were also played at the 1936, 1952, 1956, and 1964 Olympic Games. The 1992 Games in Barcelona was the debut of baseball as a medal sport.

Georgia pitcher Brian Powell was a member of the 1994 USA squad that had six SEC players.

OLYMPIC TEAM

1936 Henry Wagnon, C (Bostwick, Ga.)

Wagnon was one of 22 delegates to the International Sports Congress whose members demonstrated American Games to other nations in Berlin. Although other countries had planned to send teams for the baseball tournament, none did. So, the USA squad split into two teams and played a night game before a world-record crowd reported to be over 125,000. The World Amateurs defeated the USA Olympics 6-5.

The 1990 season will long be remembered as the finest ever produced at Georgia. Catcher Terry Childers' play in the seventh preserved a 2-1 lead as Stan Payne and Dave Fleming combined to lead the Bulldogs to the national title. Georgia was invited to Washington D.C., to discuss the strategy they used with President George Bush, a baseball letterman in his collegiate days at Yale.

Gold Glove Awards

2007: Jonathan Wyatt, OF
2008: Rich Poythress, 1B

Beginning in 2007, the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) along with Rawlings Sporting Goods began a program where Rawlings Gold Glove Awards were presented to NCAA Division I players. Nomination and voting criteria are the same as the ABCA Rawlings All-Region and All-American Awards, which are collegiate baseball's oldest selections, dating back to 1949. The players and their schools each receive a Rawlings Gold Glove Award.

Georgia outfielder Jonathan Wyatt was one of the nine inaugural recipients in 2007. He led all SEC outfielders with a perfect 1.000 Fielding Percentage in 164 total chances in his final season with the Bulldogs. He was a 13th-round pick of the Chicago Cubs.

Rich Poythress received national recognition for his stellar play at first base for the SEC champion Bulldogs in 2008, earning a Gold Glove Award. He recorded a .995 fielding percentage in 69 starts with a school record 55 assists to go with 535 putouts in helping the team reach the College World Series Finals. Poythress finished his career with a .993 Fielding Percentage (1323 PO, 127 A, 10 E). He was a second round pick of the Seattle Mariners in 2009.

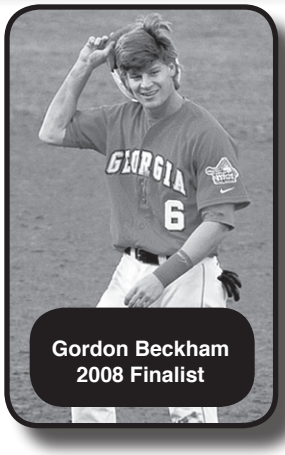
THE GOLDEN SPIKES AWARD



Gordon Beckham
2008 Finalist

The Golden Spikes award is given annually to the top amateur baseball player in America. Any exceptional collegiate, high school, youth program and independent amateur baseball players are eligible.

Six former Bulldogs have been nominated for this prestigious honor including first round picks Gordon Beckham and Joshua Fields in 2008 and second round pick Rich Poythress in 2009. Beckham was a finalist for the award while Fields and Poythress were semifinalists. In 1987, not only was it a banner year for the Bulldogs as a team, but also for some individuals. Pitchers Cris Carpenter and Derek Lilliquist were tabbed as nominees for the award. It marked only the second time that two teammates were nominated in the same year. In 1990 former Bulldog pitcher Dave Fleming, who led Georgia to its first-ever national championship, was nominated. The winner of the award goes through a selection process in which a 60-person committee ranks the top nine individuals and then selects a winner based upon exceptional athletic ability, sportsmanship, character, and overall contribution to the sport at any level.

The winner is automatically enshrined in the United States Baseball Federation's Amateur Baseball Hall of Fame. His named is also added to the permanent Golden Spikes Award at the National Baseball Hall of Fame. In addition, the winner also becomes the USBF's nominee for the AAU's Sullivan Award, which goes to the nation's top amateur athlete.

JIM UMBRICHT AWARD

The Jim Umbricht Award is given annually to the Georgia player considered the "most competitive" by the Bulldog coaching staff. The award is sponsored by former Georgia player Johnny Clifton (1951-53) of Atlanta.

Jim Umbricht was a two-sport great at the University of Georgia in the early 1950s. In 1952, he was named captain of both the Bulldog baseball and basketball teams, playing shortstop and guard, respectively. From Georgia, he went on to a successful professional baseball career. He spent time with the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Houston Colt .45s. He was part of the Pirates World Series Championship team in 1960. In 1963, he was named Major League Baseball's Comeback Player-of-the-Year. He died in 1964 at the age of 33 after a bout with cancer.

MORTON HODGSON: One of the Best Ever

Morton Hodgson (1906-09) not only was a starter for four years in baseball, he lettered in football, basketball and track. He was Georgia's first four-letter athlete. A hometown hero, he hit .333 on the 1908 championship squad that was considered one of the greatest teams ever fielded by the University. The pitching staff was so strong it shut out 12 opponents, six in succession. He was named to Grantland Rice's All-Southern team.

His sons were stellar athletes for the Bulldogs and two of his grandsons lettered in football under Coach Vince Dooley. He is the only Georgia player to have a son and two grandsons letter in football at Georgia.

BULLDOG TRIVIA

While C.E. Morris served as the coach for Georgia's first team in 1886, Hughie Jennings is credited with being the Bulldogs' first official coach. He played for 17 years in the Major Leagues while also managing the Detroit Tigers from 1907-20. He was the second shortstop and among the first 35 men elected to the Hall of Fame.

Former Bulldog Claude Derrick began his career with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1909 and played on two World Championship teams in 1910 and 1911. In 1912 with Baltimore, Derrick was the first roommate of rookie George Herman Ruth, better known as "The Babe."

Home of The Bulldogs

Foley Field, constructed at a cost of $3.5 million in 1990, is one of the finest baseball complexes in the country. The stadium's capacity of 3,291 features all chairback seating. The grandstand area is covered by a partial roof with both concession stands and rest rooms located in the stadium.

The complex continues to get better. New chairback seats were added throughout the stadium in 2011. There are indoor and outdoor bullpens and indoor hitting cages. The lower portion of the stadium includes a spacious locker room, players lounge, a coaches office, an equipment room plus exercise and athletic training facilities.

Georgia Baseball Before Foley Field

The first home for the Diamond Dogs was Herty Field where they played from 1886 until 1911. After that, they moved to Sanford Field until 1943.

The Bulldogs who played at Sanford Field and later advanced to the Major Leagues included Alf Anderson, Spurgeon Chandler, Nolen Richardson, Johnny Rucker, Fred Sale, Chick Shiver, and Homer Thompson. Bulldog Pond Lippett threw the first no-hitter at home in Georgia history, blanking Pittsburgh 6-0 in 1920. Sale pitched a perfect game at Sanford Field in 1923, a 4-0 win over Virginia. It was the first perfect game in Georgia history and one of only two to date.

After World War II, the Diamond Dogs played on a field with no name located on "Ag. Hill," where Stegeman Coliseum is today. When construction for the Coliseum began in 1962, the Diamond Dogs moved to their freshman field, which is next to where the Butts-Mehre building is now. In 1966, the Diamond Dogs moved to their current location, and two years later, it was named Foley Field. On May 5, 1990, a $3.5 million refurbished Foley Field was dedicated.
